MRS. ISADORE FRIEDMAN MAKES SECOND ATTEMPT TO END HER LIFE- PHYSICIANS SAY SHE CANNOT LIVE

In a second attempt made within a few weeks to end her life, Mrs. Isadore Friedman swallowed a quarter of a pound of Paris Green mixed with water, at her home on North King street, at 7 o'clock Saturday morning. She is still living, but a physician holds out no hope that she will survive.

Mrs. Friedman was just recovering from her first attempt to commit suicide which was made about four weeks ago, when she took an ounce of iodine. Prompt use of emetics and the stomach pump saved her life at that time, and although the same measures were used promptly Saturday, the quantity of the poison taken, and the shock to her already weakened system will undoubtedly make her second attempt result fatally. The quantity of arsenic in the mixture she took, the attending physician said, was enough to kill at least a dozen people.

The Paris Green was bought by

Mrs. Friedman one day this week at a local drug store, where the salesman sold her the poison upon her representation that she wanted it to kill potato bugs.

Domestic infelicity is the cause of Mrs. Friedman's two attempts to kill herself. Following her unsuccessful effort to end her life four weeks ago, she brought suit for divorce, and to secure an equal share of the property of her husband, whom she said she had furnished the capital to enter business, and for the custody of the minor children. She had been awarded temporary alimony and the custody of the little daughter, Nanette, during the pendency of the suit.

Her mother and sister, Mrs. Barnett and Miss Lena Barnett who had been with her since the first attempt to kill herself, returned to their home in Cincinnati Thursday, leaving her in the care of a nurse, whom she eluded long enough to take the poison, which she had concealed in her room.

COUNTY BOARD OF HEALTH ORGANIZED AT MEETING FRIDAY

Two Xenia men were appointed on the Board of Health for Greene county, representing this district, at the meeting of presidents of the township trustees and the administrative heads of incorporated municipalities held in the City Building Friday night, as the first step toward complying with the provisions of the Hughes Public Health bill which goes into effect this week.

The Board of Health appointed will be composed of Dr. W. H. Finley, of Xenia, who will serve as a medical man on the board for the five year term Dr. Tréharne, medical man appointed for the four year term, Attorney Charles Bogle, of Yellow Springs, who will serve as the legal man on the board for the three year term, S. S. Earley, of Caesar Creek township, farmer, appointed for the two year term, and S. M. McKay, Xenia, business man, appointed for the one year term.

According to the new law this Board of Health will meet soon to elect a health commissioner, who must be a doctor, and who will be selected from a certified list of applicants presented by the State Civil Service Commission. A selection must be made from the three applicants having the highest grades and if a local man is on the list he is given preference. Half of the Commissioner's salary up to $2,000 is paid by the state and the rest is paid by the different townships for which they are appropriated. The hiring of a public health nurse and a clerk is also the duty of the health board.

The organizations of the officials at the meeting into what is known as the advisory council was also effected at the meeting. As head of the largest municipality, City Manager Kenyon Riddle of Xenia was appointed temporary chairman of the meeting at which there were 12 or 15 officials present, and he was later elected permanent chairman of the advisory council. C. L. Lackey, of Silvercreek township, was appointed secretary.

In his speech of explanation, Dr. Henry E. Kock, of Cincinnati, district supervisor for this district, suggested that a nomination committee be appointed to nominate the names for the county board of health, and the chair selected A. A. Conklin, of Caesar Creek, David Archer of Beaver Creek, and S. K. Turnbull, of Ross township, as the nominating committee. Prosecuting Attorney Harry D. Smith, is also a member of the advisory council and serves as legal adviser for this board.

The advisory council will meet twice a year, once to approve the budget for the coming year and one to elect a member of the health board, the term of one member expiring every year.

Paris, Aug. 16.—Sixty disillusioned French brides of American soldiers returned to France on the liner Rochambeau this week, said the newspaper Oeuvre today. They disliked New York intensely and were unhappy there.

Asked what their husbands said at the separation they said:

"Oh, our husbands didn't mind one bit. Anyhow any body can get a divorce easy in the United States."

THIRTY WARRANTS READY TO SERVE ON FOOD PROFITEERS

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Interest in the drive against the food profiteers centered today in the investigation of charges that there exists a conspiracy for the interstate juggling of foods in order to keep a large cache of surplus foodstuffs hidden from the eyes of federal and state officials, and the probable arrest of 30 alleged profiteers.

The office of District Attorney Clyne was making rapid preparations to unearth, if possible a large quantity of foodstuffs alleged by Gov. Cox, of Ohio, to have been shipped to Chicago storage houses to escape its detection by Ohio officials.

Evidence said to have been obtained by the office of the Chicago district attorneys shows that Chicago wholesalers have, by shipping all surplus foodstuffs to Ohio wholesalers, managed to maintain the customary "shortage" in this city, which is used as one excuse for high prices.

Col. H. R. Harris, Jr., in charge of the district attorney's office during Clyne's absence in Washington has issued instructions that the books and records of every shipper, cold storage man and packer, concerning any shipments of meat or foodstuffs, be preserved. He has warned that for any dealer to report that such records have been lost or stolen will be prima facie evidence of guilt.

Orders were also issued from the district attorney's office for a sharp lookout for a large quantity of meats supposed to be on the way here from a Cleveland market house. This, Colonel Harris stated, will probably be seized for public sale.

Thirty warrants for alleged profiteering are prepared and awaiting only the signature of Clyne. As soon as he returns from Washington they will be served. Sugar and butter men and a number of retailers, are named. Thomas O'Brien, special assistant to the district attorney has been named head of a special bureau to investigate sugar complaints. The bureau is preparing an immediate search for a huge quantity of sugar alleged to be hidden in Chicago. Investigations now under way, or about to begin, will include besides sugar, butter, eggs, canned goods and produce hoarding.

The date for the setting of the special United States grand jury to investigate the entire situation and which District Attorney Clyne hopes to have indicted the packers and others accused of hoarding, has been moved up from September 15 to September 3.

ARMY COLONEL IS SUED FOR $25,000 DAMAGES

Columbus, Aug. 16.—Just as Colonel Franklin O. Johnson, who has been in command at the Columbus barracks for four years, was preparing to leave for his new post at Fort Sam Houston, he was served with papers in a suit against him for $25,000 damages, claimed by Captain Francis M. Doyle, former captain of the quarter master corps, who was tried by court martial early this spring.

Doyle charges that he was held in "close arrest" on the orders of Col. Johnson and that he was so held from January 25 to June 25, when ordered restored to duty by Major General Leonard Wood, who reversed the decision of the court martial which found him guilty.

Doyle says he was "disgraced and humiliated."

TROY, OHIO, MAN WINS.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Before one of the largest crowds ever assembled at the field of the South Shore Country club, G. William Lorimer of Troy, Ohio, captured top honors in the grand American handicap, the blue ribbon of all tray shooting classics late yesterday. Lorimer, after tying for first place with W. E. Gordon, of Mobile, Ala., and E. D. Hellyer, Jr., of Alexander, with a score of 98, took the shoot off with 18 of the 20 targets to his credit, as against the 17 of both Gordon and Hellyer.

MAN WHO TURNED GOVERNMENT FORCES LOOSE TO WAGE FIGHT ON PROFITEERING

A. Mitchell Palmer, United States attorney general, is the man leading the forces in the war against the high cost of living. He has ordered federal officials to see that food-storing, shipping and other regulations are observed and has informed the senate that he intends to "prosecute all dealers in necessities selling above the prices to be determined by price committees in the cities and counties as fair and just."

WHOLESALE SEIZURE OF FOODSTUFFS IN OHIO CITIES EXPECTED SOON

Cleveland, O., Aug. 16.—Wholesale seizures of huge stocks of foodstuffs in Ohio cities were expected today following receipt by United States district attorneys of the state of instructions from Attorney General Palmer to act upon information furnished yesterday by Gov. Cox.

The governor charged that approximately 2,500,000 pounds of meats and poultry were being illegally held in Cleveland, Toledo and Cincinnati cold storage houses. He charged that 2,000,000 pounds was being held in the Sheriff street market and storage house in Cleveland.

Federal authorities last night seized 200,000 pounds of sugar in storage at Canton belonging to the C. D. Kenny Company of Baltimore under the provisions of the Lever act.

United States District Attorney E. S. Wertz today was awaiting evidence from Gov. Cox on which to base the seizure under federal laws of the alleged hoarded stocks of food which the governor charged yesterday are being held at the Sheriff Street Market and Storage company.

Municipal authorities likewise were awaiting receipt from Columbus of the affidavits upon which to base warrants for the arrest of six Cleveland men named by Attorney General Price for alleged violations of the Smith cold storage act.

Meanwhile the heads of the packing companies and storage houses involved continued to issue emphatic denials that they had violated the law in any way.

Herbert W. Brandt of Brandt and Company which utilizes a large portion of the storage space of the Sheriff Street Market declared "the governor is only about 1,600,000 pounds out in his estimate," in commenting on the charge that 2,000,000 pounds of meat and poultry were being illegally held there.

The special grand jury was not in session today.

bottom of the lake. They also point to the fact that the youth wore shoes when he was rescued which would have made it difficult, they say, for him to have discarded a pair of wet trousers and keep himself afloat at the same time.

While Miss Crance's parents scout the theory that the young woman was murdered, many of Father's fellow students and admirers of the dead girl openly threaten to wreak vengeance on him for the disgrace he has brought upon the university. Some declared he would not be permitted to remain in jail. Extra precautions have been taken by the authorities.

TREATY SHOULD BE SUBMITTED TO SENATE WITHOUT FURTHER DELAY

BY JOHN EDWIN NEVIN.

Washington, Aug. 16.—When President Wilson confers with the senate foreign relations committee next Tuesday he will ask that body, it was learned today, to report the treaty of Versailles to the senate proper without further delay. He will ask that the treaty be brought to a vote in order that not only the United States but the nations of the world can "get back to work."

It is understood to be the intention of the president to explain clouded portions of the treaty about as follows:

First—That the treaty as a whole, embodies the viewpoints of all of the delegates to the peace conference.

Second—That its provisions were arrived at only after there had been a full and free discussion of all the interests involved and that throughout, the interests of the United States were safeguarded.

Third—That the reason the treaty itself finally was framed by the "council of three"—himself, Lloyd George and Clemenceau—and the council of five—the three aforesaid named and Signor Orlando and Marquis Salozni—was because, it was found after an exhaustive trial, that deliberations of the entire membership of the conference were productive only of a "free debating society" which could not reach a unanimous decision on any of the big question in dispute.

Fourth—That before the treaty finally was approved it was passed upon in plenary session by the entire allied and associated peace delegation.

Fifth—That the League of Nations constitution was framed at a series of committee meetings in which all of the great powers and selected representatives of the smaller nations participated and that this constitution represented the unanimous opinion of that committee.

Sixth—That the Monroe Doctrine provision was inserted at the direct request of himself and Colonel E. M. House, representing the United States on the committee and that, in their opinion, the language used fully protects the United States and was the best that could be obtained.

Seventh—That the Shantung provision was "all that possibly could be secured in view of the secret treaty between Japan, Great Britain, France, and Italy."

Eighth—That it was impossible to secure consideration of the claims that Ireland should be granted freedom as a republic because the "Irish question admittedly was a British internal problem," and further, that the British government's representatives declined to consider that the Irish question was in any way involved in the business of the peace conference.

Ninth—That as a result of the work of the American economic experts the conference recognized as lawful American claims against Germany for damages resulting prior to the United States' entering the war and the right of congress to pass upon such claims and determine how they should be met.

Tenth—That it is certain that three powers will approve the complete treaty not later than the middle of September and any textual changes insisted on by the senate will have the effect of continuing the state of war between the United States and Germany, while other nations are resuming normal trade and other "after the war" relations.

It was emphasized at the White House today that it is the intention of the president to explain to the committee "as far as possible" the compelling reasons which actuated him in the preparation of certain clauses of the treaty. In this connection however, several of the senators on the committee declared they intended asking that the president tell them exactly what General Bliss said in his letter on the Shantung question which was concurred in by Secretary of State Lansing and Henry White of the American commission to negotiate peace. They also intend to ask why it was that the president did not submit to the League of Nations the original draft of the American plan, but instead supported that framed by General Smuts of the British delegation. They further declared that it was their intention to ask the president whether he does not consider that the United States was discriminated against when votes were given the British dominions and this country limited to a single vote in the League council, are playing their strongest game of "There was distinct doubt in the minds of many of the senators as to today for a series with the Giants.

whether they would get all the information they desire from the president. A majority of the committee has declared that Secretary Lansing was evasive when he was on the stand and they declared today that they will insist on the president answering the questions that his secretary of state did not.

Under the arrangement agreed to by the White House and the committee, a complete stenographic transcription of the conference at the White House is to be made available for the press. If any attempt is made to withhold any part of the discussion, senators Borah and Johnson declared that they will oppose it and will insist that everything that the president tells them is given to the people of the United States.

Tuesday's conference will be unique in the history of the country. It will be the first time that a senate committee entrusted with the disposal of an constitutional question has been forced personally to question a president. On the result of the conference, senators on the committee said very likely will hinge whether they will be compelled to extend their investigation to get all the details of how the actual treaty provisions were arrived at.

ARMOUR EXPRESSES HOPE THAT THEY WILL NOT BE PIKERS

Chicago, Aug. 16.—No one can say that Chicago does not look after its millionaires.

For instance, when members of the builders' and traders' exchange board heard about J. Ogden Armour, Julius Rosenwald, Harry Mergick, Roger Sullivan and other men of vast wealth, being so hard up that they could afford only one pair of shoes every three or four years, they immediately took up a collection to buy shoes for the down trodden plutocrats.

When Armour heard about it he immediately sent his correct address to the board so that the shoes could not by any chance go astray. He also sent a note, which said:

"Instead of stopping with a pair of shoes, why not present me with a wardrobe for a year?"

Armour then listed his wardrobe needs as follows:

One overcoat; two suits of clothes at $75 each; one straw hat at $3; six shirts at $5 each; three neckties at $1 each; six suits of underwear, and the magnate says he likes part wool and part cotton more than all wool two dozen pairs of black lister socks and two pairs of silk socks for state occasions.

One overcoat, Armour explains, usually lasts him two years, but this is his year to buy one. The felt hat he has worn five years is still in good condition and with the application of a little black ink now and then, the packing house magnate can get along with his present derby, which he says "feels so comfortable on my head."

Armour closes with the hope that members of the board will not be "pikers."

Verily, Mr. Armour is a frugal man—which probably explains why he is a millionaire.

CONVINCED REDS WILL GET PENNANT

New York, Aug. 16.—Forty odd thousand New York baseball fans were today convinced that Pat Moran's Redlegs from Cincinnati are going to win the national league pennant this year. The fans were the ones who were able to jam their way into the Polo Grounds yesterday and watch the Reds maul the Giants in the last two games of the New York-Cincinnati series.

Nothing short of a miracle will keep Moran's men away from the national league championship. They are now 6 1/2 games ahead of the Giants. The Reds go across the Brooklyn bridge today to mingle with the Dodgers. The Cubs, who right now are playing their strongest game of the year, come to the Polo Grounds minds of many of the senators as to today for a series with the Giants.

BIBLE CONFERENCE WILL CLOSE SUNDAY

The fourth annual Bible Conference, which comes to a close on Sabbath in the big tent, West Third street, has been by all odds, the best of any thus far held.

The attendance from outside of Xenia, and from this community, has surpassed all former years; the Seminary dormitory has been full of visitors; the program has been an outstanding one that compelled interest, and the variety of subjects presented, has rendered monotonous impossible.

The chairman of the Conference, Rev. R. A. Hutchison, D. D., of Pittsburgh, is the secretary of Home Missions of his denomination, and a tactful presiding officer. Always on the alert to project the spiritual trend and gifted in good humor and common sense, his personality has been a gracious influence day by day.

On Friday, Dr. Frank N. Palmer of Winona Lake, Indiana, closed his week's work in the Bible. His closing words were appeals for the consciousness of the Holy Spirit in life. He told of a church in Missouri where the membership had dwindled down till presbytery sent a commission to dissolve the congregation. One woman member, who had survived the other members, declared: "I refuse to be dissolved." Her prayers and personality were used of the Lord until a big revival broke out.

the coming winter, which revolutionized the church.

Dr. George Stibitz, of Dayton, spoke twice, Friday. Prof. O. M. Buck completed his splendid series of studies in comparative religions, Saturday afternoon. Evangelist W. W. Orr of Charlotte, N. C., comes to the Institute Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, and will bring a great message.

The Saturday evening service will be led by Rev. Lee Rife, of the Norris Square Church, Philadelphia, at 7 o'clock.

On Sabbath, Lieutenant-Colonel W. J. Bell, M. D., just returned from service abroad, will speak at 7 p. m. He is now under appointment to sail as a medical missionary to Assiut Hospital, Egypt. Evangelist Orr speaks Sabbath at 3 p. m. and 8 p. m., in the closing hour of the Bible Conference.

The evening services will be union meetings of the Xenia churches, and an overflow crowd will doubtless be registered. There is no admission charge to the services Sabbath.

BIJOU.

Lila Lee in a delightful little romance of sweet sixteen is the star and theme of the latest Paramount photoplay, "Puppy Love," which will show at the Bijou theater, Monday.

The theme is one of those delightful child-love romances, with their quaintly serious side. Harold Goodwin and Lincoln Stedman are the boy lovers who appear opposite her and others in the cast are Josephine Crowell, Emma Gerdes, Charles Murray, Helen Dunbar and Alice Knowland.

SOME PEOPLE ARE MISERABLE, HALF SICK, TIRED ALL THE TIME

They Do Not Know What Is the Matter, and Their Physician Cannot Name the Disease.

There are just lots and lots of people who are sick—genuinely sick—yet who manage to drag through their work day by day.

They do not know what is the matter with them and their physician cannot name the disease—that miserable, "tired all the time" feeling.

In most cases, the real cause of this state of poor health is that the blood is clogged with impurities and the bowels, kidneys and other vital organs are not acting properly. A reliable blood tonic is necessary.

Prescription C-2223 is a blood purifier of unusual merit. It is supplied ready prepared in concentrated form and is to be taken in small doses. It not only cleanses and sweeps out of the blood all the impurities that are causing ill health, but tones up the system.

Prescription C-2223 contains no mercury, opium, morphine, chloral or strychnine; it was originally the prescription of a prominent physician, used in his practice in the treatment of disorders of the blood.

If you are miserable and half sick, get a $1.50 bottle of Prescription C-2223 from your nearest drug store, or the C-2223 Laboratory, Memphis, Tenn., will mail you a bottle on receipt of price. Clip and mail this advertisement for free literature.

What Does Testing Mean?

"Testing" means finding specific gravity of battery solution by measuring it with the hydrometer.

The test is simple, but of utmost importance because it is the only means of telling whether your battery is being kept in condition by proper charging or weakened by starvation.

Testing is an important part of the service that you as a user of a Willard Storage Battery are entitled to receive. We will make the test for you or show you how you can keep tab on your battery by testing it yourself every week or two.

Lost and Found

"When the 'phone rang and a man told me he had found my bag I was just tickled pink. There wasn't much money in it, but the bag was a gift from a friend and I value it highly. Why, I can hardly believe that I have it back. There must be magic in your Want Ads." So spoke a well-known lady of this city.

No, there isn't any magic; it is just that most people are honest and nearly everybody reads our Want Ads. Whenever you lose or find an article of value a Want Ad in our Lost and Found columns is the best way to locate the loser or the finder.

CINCINNATI REDS TAKE FOUR OUT OF SIX GAMES FROM NEW YORK GIANTS IN THREE DAYS.

The hustling Reds are away out in front in the race for the pennant and if their luck holds for a few weeks longer old Cincinnati town will win in a walk. In their six game series with New York they showed that they are real champions. On Wednesday they took both halves of a double header from McGraw's men. Thursday they suffered a set back losing two hard games. On Friday however they came back stronger than ever and trimming New York two straight. This victory puts them six and a half games to the good.

COURT OF HONOR TO BE ERECTED FOR THE SOLDIERS

PLANS COMPLETE FOR HOME COMING FOR SOLDIERS

Loose ends for arrangements for Greene county's soldiers' home coming celebration were gathered up at several meetings held in the rooms of the Xenia Business Men's Association Friday evening.

The committee reports received show that each one of the working organizations of the general committee is employed strenuously in preparing for its part in the big celebration and the co-operation and general working spirit exhibited is proof sufficient that the big affair will be a success.

The committee of ladies which is preparing for the big free chicken dinner, which will be served to the soldier lads on tables in front of the Court House, is making great strides towards the goal of "six hundred baskets and chicken in every basket."

The ladies have appointed a number of sub-committees and solicitors throughout the county, the names of whom are now being mailed out and they will start to work the first of the week. It is expected that they will receive ready response from Greene County patriotic women.

A booster committee was evolved at the meeting Friday night that will supplement the work of the publicity committee. The boosters' committee will be headed by Clark Poland, as chairman, and will take action in the shape of a big booster trip, which will be held next Saturday afternoon and evening.

People with automobiles who are anxious to contribute to the success of the celebration are requested to see Mr. Poland if they can offer their machine for the trip on that day. The machines will visit practically every town in the county, carrying with them a local band and an official announcer, who will well advertise Greene County's big day on the trip.

The meeting Friday night was very encouraging to the committee chairman and those in charge of the big affair are now growing enthusiastic over its ultimate success.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

"In calling on a stranger and finding that she is not at home what do I say if I have no card to leave," inquired Ellen.

"If the maid informs you that her mistress is not at home you can simply leave your name and ask her to say that you have called," helped her hundred baskets and chicken in every basket.

ZIMMERMAN

Misses Mary McCray and Evelyn Miller, accompanied by Messrs. Alvah Stine and Russell Moler spent Sunday at Cedar Point.

Misses Osee Burk, Hazel and Evelyn McCray were members of a party of eleven girls who were excursionists to Cincinnati and spent the day at Coney Island, on Sunday recently.

The second automobile accident at the Cross Roads in Zimmerman occurred some days ago when the Ford car driven by Mr. Wm. Mahan, on the Fairfield road, collided with a large auto on the Xenia pike. The latter machine was thrown in the ditch at the side of the road. Mrs. Mahan's arm was injured and the lady in the other car was hurt also.

Clarence Ferguson and wife, of Louisville, are guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Ferguson. They motored through from Louisville, Ky., traveling a distance of one hundred and fourteen miles, arriving at their destination 13 1/2 hours after starting.

Mrs. M. A. Schantz was removed to Dr. Hatcher's Private Hospital in Dayton, Monday, where she will undergo treatment, and probably an operation. Her condition is quite serious.

A very unfortunate accident occurred Wednesday afternoon, when Chester Cyphers accidentally discharged the rifle he was handling, the bullet entering the body at one of the lower ribs. He was taken to a hospital in Xenia and an X-Ray examination revealed the bullet in the shoulder near the neck. At this writing he is resting easily. He is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cypher, and for several months was located at a training camp in England.

Mrs. Charles Stewart spent Wednesday and Thursday at the home of her brothers in Dayton.

Mrs. Donald Bishop—Mildred Schneider—and baby, of Norwood, Cincinnati were recent guests of Mrs. Charles Atkinson, near Xenia, and Mrs. Sam Moore, Mrs. Bishop was formerly a teacher at this place.

COLORED MAN HELD UNDER HEAVY BOND

Frank Cooper, a colored farmer living near Jamestown, is under arrest and held on $1000 bond in the county jail on a charge of unnatural conduct toward his 16 year old daughter. The affidavit against him was filed by Prosecutor Smith in the court of Magistrate J. E. Jones. He will have a preliminary hearing Thursday. The case has been thoroughly investigated by the juvenile court.

GRAND JURY PROBE IS NOW NEARING CLOSE

After having been in session five days, the grand jury probing the high cost of living, adjourned Friday afternoon until next Wednesday morning. Prosecuting Attorney Harry D. Smith, says that all the evidence to be considered is now before the jury unless it should be considered necessary later, to call more witnesses. The matter of submitting the report, will be taken up when the body reconvenes next Wednesday. The prosecutor will be busy with criminal cases in the probate court Monday and Tuesday, and will not have time to be with the grand jury then. The cases in the probate court Monday Wilson, charged with contributing to the delinquency of minor girls will be tried in probate court on those days.

The butter, egg, cream and poultry questions were taken up by the grand jury Friday. Among the men subpoenaed to appear before the jurors were: Melville Smith, superintendent of the Western Ohio Creamery, Grover Mendenhall, local agent for the J. A. Long creameries, Lester Ball, C. E. Bradstreet, poultry dealers, Charles Vandervort, superintendent of the Yellow Springs Canning Company, and Roy Irons, superintendent of the Spring Valley Canning Company, County Commissioner R. D. Williamson, farmer, sheep and stock breeder; Charles Wolf, farmer, County Auditor A. E. Faulkner.

In connection with the investigation of the coal situation, a statement was given out Thursday to the effect that "it is virtually impossible to get good grades of coal, owing to conditions at the mines, etc."

The dealers to whom the statement was credited, in fact, said that it was almost impossible to get coal of any grade. The statements have the false impression that only good coal is hard to get, which is not correct. Xenia gets its share of good coal, but it is no harder to get it than any other grade of coal. The only difference is that it costs considerably more.

MOTORRAIDS

The effect of the wetting of a tire is nothing at all, either for damage or improvement. The two chief constituents of a tire are rubber and cotton, both vegetable substances, and as a rule, water does not injure vegetable matter. If running through a brook resulted in cooling a tire, the effect would be decidedly beneficial, but a quick dash through water has little effect on the heated air within the tire, and consequently the temperature change in the tire after its bath is negligible.

AUTOMATIC TELEPHONES.

Did you ever think of what a changed world we would have if machinery was cut out and we had to go back to primitive ways of doing things? Today a machine will perform as much labor as could a hundred persons by hand power.

"They say" that there was a day when the laborer fought the introduction of machinery on the ground that it took the bread out of the mouths of the poor. But in our country, at least, the people multiplied so fast that there were so many more mouths that the machinery only equalized things.

Xenia hasn't nearly so many manufacturing as she should have, but wonderful would be the change if our Cordage Mills and our Shoe Factory had to go back to hand power only. The fact is the world has got too big for hand power, and it takes machinery to fill the bill.

One of the new pieces of machinery that is up and coming fast is the substitution of automatic operation of telephones, instead of live operators, or "hello girls." Different cities have had automatically operated telephones of one device and another, but now a larger concern enters the field and absorbs these smaller affairs.

The name of the new organization is the International Telephone Sales and Engineering Corporation. It has acquired control of the Automatic Electric Company in Chicago. The present works of the Automatic Electric Company in that city are to be doubled in capacity and a vigorous campaign to promote this undertaking is in progress. There is every evidence that the backers of the enterprise have abundant means and personal responsibility.

The company recently acquired control of the two heretofore competing telephone companies of Kansas City. From that point throughout the United States and to other countries the business will be extended, agents having already gone abroad.

The connection of the Western Electric with these matters has led to the rumor that the International is really a part of the American Telephone and Telegraph organization. That the Bell interests will, however, find it necessary to make use of this device seems a certainty, and in many large centers preparations are now in progress.

The only experience the writer has had with an automatic telephone was at Tampa, Florida, a couple years ago. That one had a disc face the size of a small breakfast plate. Around the edge were figures 1 to 16, and outside each figure a small hole large enough to insert a finger. Looking in the book for the number of the person you wished—as for instance if it was Dr. Wilson and his number was 246—you simply placed a finger in those holes, alternately, and gave the disk a little whirl each time. Almost immediately you had your party, seemingly as soon as with it takes to get central.

Of course there is no probability of automatic telephones in Xenia, to the disadvantage of our faithful "hello girls," but the community would hail with joy the consolidation of the two companies which we have.

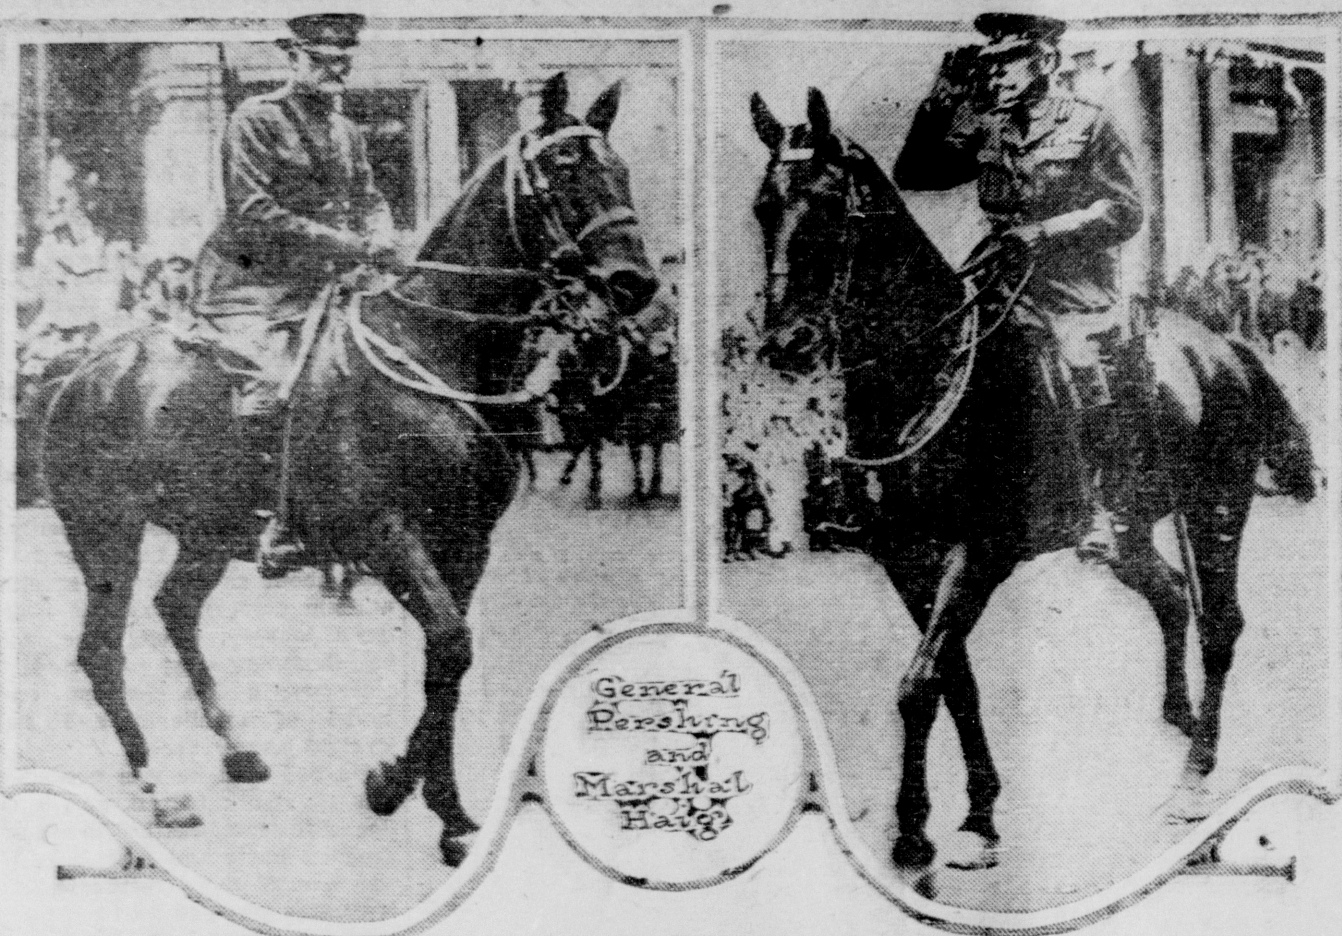

Man's Wonderful Makeup.

No difference how sour a man looks, he contains about 60 lumps of sugar of the ordinary cubical dimensions, and to make the seasoning complete, there are 20 spoonfuls of salt. If a man were distilled into water he would make about 25 quarts, or more than half his entire weight. He also contains a great deal of starch, chloride of potash, magnesium, sulphur and hydrochloric acid in his wonderful eyes.

Velocity of Stars.

From the spectroscopic measurements made by Mr. Wilson, observatory stars (i. e., the speed with which they are approaching or receding from our solar system) it appears that the star A. G. Berlin has a radial velocity of 339 kilometers a second, the highest constant velocity so far observed for any star. Next to this comes Leland with a velocity of 325 kilometers a second, in the opposite direction.

LOOKS MORE HOPEFUL AT WASHINGTON.

The trend toward agreement on reservations in the peace treaty has reached the stage where the group of Republican senators advocating reservations received assurances which they accepted as guaranteeing Democratic assent to their program.

Word reached members of the group it was said, that as soon as they could pledge a score of Republican votes for reservations to the league-of-nations covenant along the line recently agreed on by seven Republican senators, the administration forces in the Senate would be willing to line up on that basis for ratification of the treaty.

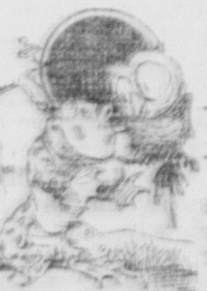

There was an intimation also that the reservationists had reason to believe their ranks eventually would include Senator Lodge, chairman of the foreign relations committee, and Republican leader of the Senate.

Twenty Republicans, it is declared, would be enough, with the administration Democrats, to make up the two-thirds necessary for ratification. The program on which it is sought to unite these elements contemplates reservations to further protect the Monroe Doctrine, to insure domestic control over domestic questions, to amplify the right of withdrawal, and to fortify the power of Congress to decide questions of peace or war under Article X.

LATER—Every day changes the aspect of affairs at Washington. On Friday the President issued orders to his lieutenants against any amendments to the treaty, because Germany would take advantage of such to bargain for greater leniency. The President intimated that he would refuse to be a party to the negotiations, and would appoint Senators Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts and Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania, to be delegates to Berlin to negotiate a new treaty. Now then, there you are, Lodge, Knox & Co. Put that in your pipe and smoke it.

HOME AFTER TWO YEARS OF SERVICE ON THE OTHER SIDE

After two years of service overseas, Second Kearney, who served in the Second Division with the Fifth Marines, was expected to arrive home this afternoon after having received his discharge at Camp Quantico, Va. Mr. Kearney was among the first Xenians to enlist in the service after war was declared, and his regiment was one of the first to arrive overseas. He was in all the big battles which made the name of the U. S. Marine immortal in France, and never was wounded. The young man is a son of Mrs. Robert Kearney.

A DISAPPOINTING SEARCH.

CHAPTER XLII.

First I looked into the drawers of an old-fashioned high-boy. A wonderful piece of furniture, which intrigued me to wonder why it was not in use. I found nothing of much interest either there or in an old bureau, so I turned my attention to the trunks. I was delighted when I found a key that fitted the first one I attempted to open, a very large trunk, and practically new—that is, it did not look as if it had traveled very far.

"Oh, how lovely!" I gasped, when removing some tissue paper, I came upon a pale blue satin evening dress. In one corner of the tray were slippers and stockings to match, a fan and, underneath, a delicate petticoat of the same color. I knew at once it must have belonged to Leola. "He loves her so he keeps her old clothes," I moaned, then kicking of my own slipper, I substituted one of the blue ones. To my delight it was large for me. "I have the smaller foot, anyway," I said in childish glee. "I'm glad of that!"

I lifted out the tray after putting everything back exactly as I had found it. Underneath was another one. In this one was a sapphire velvet evening dress. If the light blue had been exquisite, this one was simply marvelous. I couldn't resist it, although I hated myself for the feeling. I quickly slipped off my simple morning dress and put it on. It fitted as if made for me. I looked at myself in the mirror at the top of the bureau, and breathed a sigh of delight. If only Everett would let me have a dress like that, instead of the simple girlish things he made me wear.

I took down my hair, unbraided it, and made a big soft swirl on top of my head. "There! now I look something like a married woman," I said aloud, as I gazed with admiration at myself. The dress was cut very low, both back and front, and had a long train. It made me look much older, which delighted me.

Without removing it—I couldn't bear to take it off—I continued my inspection of the contents of the big trunk. Other dresses, all for evening and gave one black one, all of some shade of blue—filled each tray. With all of them were shoes and other articles to match. Finally, I had exhausted that trunk. I would take one more look at myself. I thought, then I would take off the sapphire velvet, and lock the trunk. But when I looked, I was again so pleased with my OLDER appearance that I just kept it on and fringed around the attic, trying keys in other trunks.

I found another which fitted a smaller and much battered trunk. This one was filled with simple morning and afternoon dresses. They didn't interest me, although I took each one out. I thought I might find some old letters or something which would throw more light on Leola. But nothing rewarded my search.

I tried another, an interesting looking steamer trunk, covered with labels. But although I tried every single small key on the ring, none fitted.

I looked at my watch. I had been in the attic over two hours. I must hurry down with the keys before Mrs. Gray returned. In my haste I stumbled over a piece of furniture, making a good deal of noise. I listened a moment—then as I heard no movement below, I stood in front of the mirror to unfasten the velvet dress.

"He might let me wear things made like this," I exclaimed, as I once more took in with delight my older appearance in the decollete gown. "Oh, Mrs. Graham!" I had been so engrossed with myself, my misrored image, that I had heard nothing. Mrs. Gray's exclamation was the first intimation I had that I was not alone. "Oh, why did you come up here?" Real concern was on her face.

"Why shouldn't I?" I asked with more bravado than I felt. "Isn't it my home?"

"Yes—but—Mr. Graham allows no one up here. I come to see that everything is all right occasionally. He would blame me if he knew you had been in those trunks."

As she talked she helped me unfasten the dress. In spite of her words, I could see, or thought I did sympathy for me in her face. It emboldened me to ask:

"What's in that trunk?" pointing to the small one for which there was no key on the ring.

"I do not know. I have no key for it. Come, let us put this dress back and get down stairs before Betty or the others miss us. Betty told me you had gone out. Let her think she is right."

"Very well," I answered meekly, all the time wondering how I should get the key of that small trunk. Now I was obsessed that in it should find old letters, yellowed with age perhaps, as I read of them in novels—but letters which would tell me of Leola.

To Be Continued.

The many friends of Nelson Corbin and Miss Hattie Hawkins were completely surprised by their marriage Thursday night. While most of their friends were confident that their marriage was early approaching, yet none knew that it was so near. Both are very popular, and the news of the event spread rapidly. The marriage took place at the home of the bride on East Market street. Only the families of the contracting parties were present. The ceremony took place at eight o'clock, and was performed by Rev. P. A. Nichols, pastor of the happy couple. The bride was attired in a handsome grey crepe de chine dress, trimmed in Irish point lace. The groom wore a conventional black suit. They went at once to the home of the groom on Columbus street, which he has had improved, both inside and out in a very attractive and artistic manner. They have the best wishes of their many friends.

Mrs. Gertrude Clark will entertain the Twentieth Century club Tuesday night, next, instead of Monday night. All members please note the change of date.

Miss Susie May Ford of Macon, Georgia, has come here to reside with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ford, of East Market street.

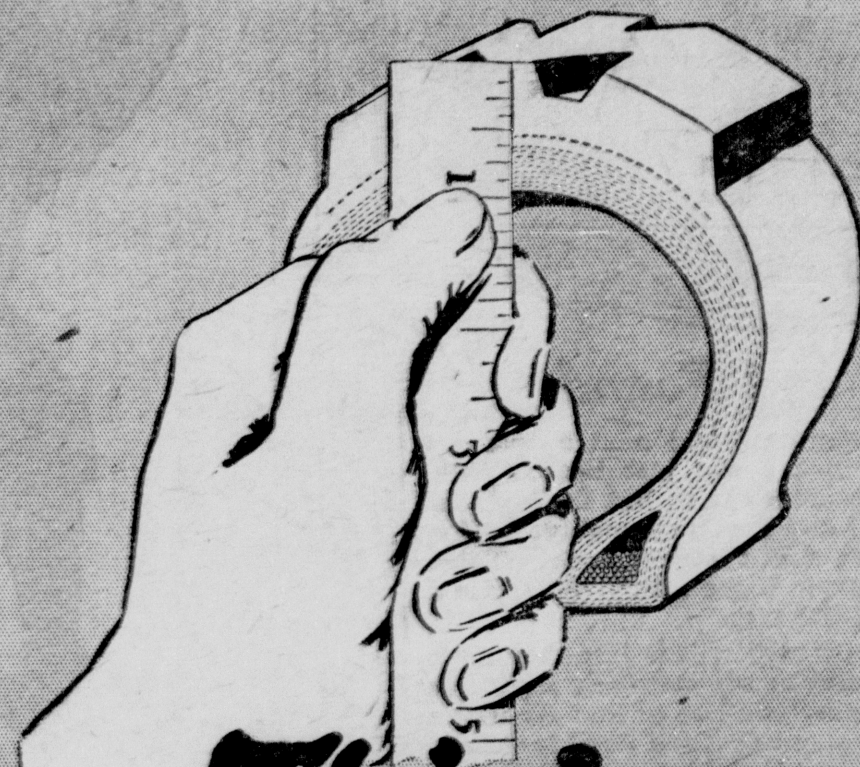

Amusing Himself.

Elizabeth and her mother went to the city to spend the day, leaving Aunt Eleanor, a house guest, alone. Upon their return Elizabeth questioned: "Aunt Nellie, did you get lonely while we were away?" "Yes," was the reply, whereupon the little miss asked: "Then did you tell yourself a nice story?"

Thickness

Before deciding on your next tire, have your dealer show you cross-sections of the various makes you are considering—so that you can measure the total thickness of the rubber and fabric used in building up the various makes.

You will find that Michelin Tires embody more of these mileage-giving materials. In the 34x4 Michelin Universal, for example, there is a solid tough flexible mass of wear-resisting rubber and fabric almost an inch thick.

And every bit of the materials used is of the highest quality. Yet Michelins are moderate in price.

Miss Myrtle Marchant has written friends here that her mother is bedfast at the home of her sister in Detroit, Mich. The letter stated that an operation has been decided as necessary in her case. Mrs. Marchant and daughter went to Detroit for a month's visit only a week ago. Their many friends will regret to hear of her illness.

Mrs. Samuel Gray, of Dayton, has been visiting Fred Harris for a week. Miss Grace Harris left for Springfield, Friday morning for a week's vacation.

vanced age lessens his power of resistance against disease.

Mr. and Mrs. George Powers entertained 25 or 30 at a stag party, Thursday night in honor of their son, Walter, who very recently returned from overseas. The greater part of the evening was spent in playing games and social chat. About ten o'clock Dr. W. T. Darnell, who was a captain in the Medical Corps of the A. E. F. in a pleasing and complimentary speech, presented Mr. Walter Powers to the party. Mr. Powers gave an account of his army life from his entry into the service until his return home. He told of his attendance as a student for four months at the University of London, England. He said that he was one of nine colored soldiers of the American Expeditionary Forces out of more than two thousand who were privileged to take courses there. Mr. Powers specialized in history, economics and music. He possesses a rare musical gift and it was a great opportunity for him to obtain this additional training. While in London he sang at the second largest church there and was clothed in the vestments of that sacred and ancient church. He addressed the party for more than a half hour and his talk was intensely interesting and instructive. He exhibited his certificate from the University of England, accompanied by a letter from the Provost of the institution. He has a large collection of pictures and books which are interesting and full of condensed information. While abroad he was in France, England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Belgium and Germany. He was a first sergeant in the A. E. F. It is his intention to return to St. Louis next Monday to take up his employment that he had prior to the war as messenger at the Federal Reserve Bank.

Cynicism.

We are reminded that resentment, doubt and cynicism are so easily mistaken for the wisdom of disillusionment that there is double reason to guard against them. Many a hurt soul fancies it is growing wise in the ways of the world when in truth it is only growing hard and bitter. An acquaintance with mankind does not mean merely learning humanity's sordid side and being on guard against it. A wider study will bring a far different and more hopeful knowledge.

HOW IT HAPPENED

(Luke McLuke in Cincinnati Enquirer.)

We heard a story the other day about a Russian Jew who stood in front of his second-hand clothes store wearing a military decoration. An army officer recognized the decoration and asked the wearer where he got it.

"I got it from the Czar when Russia was making the campaign against Germany in Eastern Prussia," replied the little Russian Jew.

"Why did the Czar give it to you?" asked the officer.

"It was like this," replied the wearer of the decoration. "I was color bearer of a Russian regiment and I brought in a German battle flag."

"How many Germans did you have to kill to get the flag?" asked the officer.

"Not a one," was the reply. "I was in the trenches with my regiment and the Germans were entrenched just in front of us. I noticed that the German color bearer was a Jew and looked like a good business man. So that night, when everything was quiet, I sneaked over when nobody was looking and I met the German color bearer and we swapped flags."

Gypsy Lore

By ALVAH JORDAN GARTH

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

"Your lover will be young, handsome, wealthy."

"Oh, I have him already!" cried Lura Deane, clapping her hands in glee. "Now do something for Althea here, who hasn't a fiancé, not even a beau, except Winston Morse, who is worse than none at all!"

"You won't lose by crossing the gypsy's palm with silver," spoke the tawny fortune teller persuasively. "Come, pretty miss, you surely wish to know all the golden happiness in store for you."

The gypsy encampment had become a feature of the woodland surrounding Cloverdale. In idle curiosity the two school chums had visited the place. Hesitatingly Althea placed her fair, snowy hand in the weather-bronzed one of the fortune teller. "You will meet your life companion in the woodland with the moon shining brightly upon his face—a double face, I see, but the lines are not clear, and there lies the mystery love must solve."

"The idea!" derided Althea, but flatteringly. Somehow the words of the soothsayer bore a tinge of romanticism. "As if I would be wandering in the woods at night, looking for a lover so mysterious that even the gypsy cannot construe her own silly prediction!"

"Now I wonder if by any mischance this promised husband can be Winston Morse?" suggested Lura mischievously, for of all the young men she knew he was most detested by Althea. A stranger in Cloverdale, he had flashed upon the community as the scion of an opulent family in the South and his reckless extravagance in a way bore out his assumption.

In an hour Althea forgot the gypsy oracle. Two evenings later she left the home of Lura to hurry to her own.

Lying upon the dewy sward, clearly revealed in the white moonlight, was a man, asleep. He resembled some homeless tramp. His hair was unkempt, a week's growth of beard gave a sinister expression to his features. One eye was bandaged. Althea shuddered as the words of the gypsy flashed through her mind:

"In the woodland with the moon shining brightly upon his face!"

She fled precipitately and never paused until she cleared the last fringe of trees, to almost run into the arms of Winston Morse. He noted her breathless agitation, and, much to her discomfort, insisted on seeing her safely home. He was the man to infringe upon any consideration shown him, and distracted Althea knew not how to forbid as he spoke of calling upon her the following evening.

There had been a distressing episode in the experience of Althea. A month previous she had recently lost her mother and had been offered a new home by an aunt at Cloverdale. One week after her arrival there the house had been entered while the family was absent, and a fair little legacy left Althea by her mother, comprising several thousand dollars in bonds, diamonds and valuable family heirlooms, was appropriated by some clever burglar.

Twice during the week after the forest incident Morse called upon Althea. They were returning from a party late one night in Morse's automobile, when he left the main road and struck off through the short-cut trail through the woods, and suddenly halted in the center of the lonely stretch.

"Althea," he spoke, "I have come here purposely to tell you that I am going to leave here tonight; have all my traps in the machine, and you must go with me. I love you, and I cannot live without you. Do not shrink from me. I will be an indulgent husband. I can deck you with jewels—I can give you a life of luxury. Stop!"

With a cry of loathing Althea sprang from the auto. He followed her.

"You shall go," he grated forth—"willingly or unwillingly! Who are you?"

A man had sprung from behind a tree. In wonder Althea recognized him as the person she had seen in the woodland. There was a metallic sound, produced by a pair of handcuffs.

"It's been a long wait, Winston Morse, gentleman, alias Clever Dan, professional burglar, but I have you, and, I think, the result of your raid on the Ross home as well."

As he spoke Adrian Noble drew from the rear seat of the machine a satchel resting there. He wrenched it open.

"Just look, please, Miss Ross," he spoke. "Don't be afraid of our unmasked friend here, nor of me," and he smiled lightly. "I am nothing worse than a detective on the trail of this man and your stolen property for some time past. Do you recognize any of this plunder?" and opening a small box the speaker disclosed the treasures that Althea had so sadly missed.

And when Adrian Noble the next day called upon Althea to arrange for the trial of Winston Morse, divested of his disguise and in propria persona as presentable and handsome young man as one would care to see Althea wondered if the gypsy prophecy of "the man in the woodland with the moon shining on his face" was to have its aftermath—a life companion.

PRINCE OF WALES
LANDS IN CANADA

St. Johns, N. B., Aug. 15.—In a drizzling rainstorm, and under a canopy of dull gray fog, the Prince of Wales landed here today to receive formal and official welcome to Canada.

A whipping wind that drove the mist shoreward from the Bay of Fundy, and the falling rain failed to dampen the ardor of thousands who gathered on the water front and cheered themselves hoarse as the youthful soldier heir to the British throne, stepped upon the soil that he will some day rule over.

Truth About Cat's Eyes.

A cat can see better in the dusk than can a human being because the cat's eyes are sensitive to ultra-violet rays. Its pupils are capable of greater expansion than those of man's or of almost any other animal, thus admitting more light. The cat uses its whiskers for feelers in the dark. Its sure-footedness is a great help to it. So it gets along better in the dark than most animals. The belief that it can see by night with the same degree of clearness as by day is, however, erroneous.

ALL XENIA PLAYERS
ON THE RESERVES

It will be practically an all-Xenia team that will compose the Xenia Reserves and face the Springfield Reapers in the first local diamond battle that has been staged here for several weeks here, Sunday.

Big Curt Free, a favorite with the local fans, who has won two out of three starts for the locals this season, but who has not been heaving the pill regularly, has been selected to do mound duty by Manager Foley, and the big lad has promised that he will serve up a superlative article of ball for the batting appetites of the Home City crowd.

Possibly excepting Day, of Yellow Springs, who will be present, every other player in a Reserve uniform, will be a local lad, which will add to the interest of the clash. Play will be called at three.

Wanted His Privilege.

Robert did not want to have his bobbed hair cut off. He made a great fuss. He consented after his mother told him that with short hair he would look like a big boy. At the usual bedtime his mother told him to go to bed, and he sadly said: "I wish I didn't have my hair cut. What is the use of looking like a big boy if I have to go to bed the same time as the baby boys?"

YELLOW SPRINGS

Miss Maryanna Snyder, assisted by her sister Miss Louise Snyder, entertained about forty young people at their new home on Xenia avenue in Yellow Springs Thursday evening.

The house was decked with flowers and potted plants and ferns, the color scheme of yellow and white prevailing. The guests danced in the rooms of the house, on the porch and on the spacious lawn, to music provided by a Yellow Springs orchestra which created wonderful "jazz" for the occasion.

Delicious refreshments were served consisting of yellow and white ice cream, cake and mints, and cooling drinks were served throughout the evening. Guests from Springfield, Xenia, Jamestown and Yellow Springs were present.

PEPSINCO

in a poor stove

It's a useless waste of good fuel and a needless extravagance to try to burn it in a poor stove. It is absolutely wrong to expect good food to supply energy, vitality, health and happiness if your stomach won't absorb and assimilate it. If you cannot eat with enjoyment, if your food does you no good, if food distresses rather than benefits, then you have indigestion or dyspepsia. The best remedy to use is PEP SINCO.

Ask your druggist—he sells and recommends Pepsinco.

WHY WOMEN BUY FROM THE MAIL ORDER HOUSES

Clerks "grouchy" when they should be smiling and cheerful; lack of knowledge of stocks; partiality shown to favored customers; food left exposed to flies and dirt; bills not rendered promptly; too much money lost on bad debts for which the prompt payer must suffer; fruit and vegetables sold to canneries, forcing up prices to consumers; tendency of retailers to substitute dissatisfaction with central delivery system; these are the principal complaints registered against retail grocers of Elyria, O., by consumers, through a "survey" conducted by the Chamber of Commerce of that city.

The Elyria Chamber of Commerce has a "Buy-at-home" division, whose functions are to get the consumers of the community to patronize the home merchants instead of sending to Cleveland or to the Chicago mail order houses. In order to come to some definite conclusions as to just why the people of Elyria bought goods in other cities and by mail order catalog the buy-at-home committee felt that it would be a good idea to find out what the principal complaints were against the local dealers.

In order to arrive at a definite starting point, it was decided to ask the consumers themselves to tabulate their complaints regarding the service, prices, etc., of the local merchants, and then lay the result before the retailers for such action as they saw fit. Apparently the Elyria people had been nursing some long-standing grievances against the methods of the merchants and welcomed an opportunity to "get back" at them, as the replies indicated.

As a result of this investigation the retailers of Elyria removed the causes for complaint and thereby dealt the mail order houses a body blow. Retailers everywhere should consider Elyria's experience.

FRED BLAIR WEDS IN ATLANTA, GA.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Blair, of Center street, have received word of the marriage of their son, Fred Blair, which took place in Atlanta, Ga., Thursday. His bride was Miss Bessie Randall of that city. Mr. Blair was in the medical service during the war and was stationed for a long time at Camp Gordon near Atlanta. He was discharged in June, and is now foreman of the sales room of an automobile concern in Atlanta.

Dreaming of Cats.

To dream of cats is said not to be lucky. If you dream of a black cat, your enemies are active; to be bitten by one indicates misfortune; burglars are about when a cat follows you in a dream; while to dream you are stroking one means, beware of false friends.

Make the Best of Today.

Anticipating tomorrow's opportunities and regretting yesterday's failures is scarcely a fair way to spend today. It is dividing the present and bestowing it upon two periods that have no right to it.

CONSTIPATION

Stop dosing with pills or laxatives and use Brazilian Balm locally. Get it inside every night for a week and be cured permanently.

Asserts New Discovery Brings Blessed Relief To Rose and Hay Fever Sufferers

Can Make It Yourself At Home At Trifling Expense

In spite of all the doubters and scoffers, a man in Kentucky, who changed his annoying and distressing hay fever into less than a mild cold, claims most emphatically that if taken in time hay fever can be conquered or at least made so harmless that it is not even bothersome.

He gave his discovery to scores of other sufferers with the most remarkable results and has recently been prevailed upon to dispense it through pharmacists to all hay fever sufferers who still have faith that nature has provided an effective remedy for this common yet miserable disease.

And best of all this remedy costs almost nothing. Get a one ounce bottle of Mentholized Arcine at any drug store, pour the contents into a pint bottle and fill the pint bottle with water that has been boiled.

Then gargle as directed and twice daily sniff or spray each nostril thoroughly.

That's all there is to it; so simple that a lot of people will say that it can't do the work; but oftentimes simple natural remedies are the best as you will find after using.

If you will make up a pint and use it for a week or ten days you need not be surprised if your unwelcome yearly visitor fails to appear.
